HARDEN, WELL KNOWN ENEMY OF JUNKERS, IS THUGS VICTIM

Journalist Carried In To House Unconcious

TWO MEN HELD

Victim Was Most Outspoken Of Foes Of Pan-Germans

(Reuter's Service)

Berlin, July 3.—Two men today attacked Herr Maximilian Harden, the well-known journalist. He was carried unconscious to his house with five wounds in the head. Two men supposed to have been his assailants were arrested.

Note:—Herr Maximilian Harden achieved considerable prominence as editor of Die Zukunft, which he founded, by his fearless criticisms of the Government. During the war Die Zukunft was suppressed and Herr Harden silenced by being called up for the Army, in which he served as a clerk. It was through his writings that the Eulenburg-Moltke scandals were exposed.

When Is A Rear Admiral Rear?

Major-General Charles Summerall

Rear Admiral Edward Simpson

PRESIDENT Harding must decide who eats the soup first—Major-General Charles P. Summerall or Rear Admiral Edward Simpson. They are both in Honolulu, but can't dine together because there is the question of who is the ranking officer. Technically a Major-General and a Rear Admiral have the same rank, the oldest in point of commission being the senior. General Summerall is senior as a Major-General, but Admiral Simpson held temporary rank before he became a permanent Rear Admiral, so he claims he outranks Summerall.

All Shanghai Takes Part In American Celebration Of The National Holiday

Observance Of The Fourth Of July With Program Lasting From Early Morning Until Late Night Greatest Seen In China

Americans of the community and, in fact, all Shanghai celebrated the great American National Holiday yesterday in a way that it never before has been celebrated in China. In the length of the program of events, in the variety of entertainment provided, and in the number of Americans participating—a total swelled by the presence here of three thousand-odd sailors from the American Asiatic Fleet—yesterday's observance of the Fourth of July surpasses anything held in former years.

With all American public and commercial institutions closed and with the Stars and Stripes in evidence in all corners of the city the entire day was given over to the patriotic observance which began at 8 o'clock in the morning at the Consulate and continued until late in the evening when the American Community Lawn party came to an end.

THRONGS SEE SPECTACLE

Perhaps never before has a display as spectacular as the searchlight illumination of the Asiatic Fleet been seen in Shanghai. This was witnessed last night by uncounted thousands that packed the whole length of The Bund from the Garden Bridge through the Chinese Bund. The American destroyers which have been grouped in the stream off the French Bund for the past four weeks were in darkness but the U.S.S. Huron, Flagship of the Fleet, and the American cruiser Albany, moored near the Flagship, were brightly limned against the dark waters with thousands of incandescents marking the outlines of the two vessels.

The light revealed masts and rigging of the warcraft and what might be taken as a symbol that shone out in the darkness, a part of wireless rigging of the Huron, was a huge brilliant cross.

The searchlight display began sharply at 8 o'clock. From all of the twenty American warcraft stationed in various parts of the stream, two anchored at Yangtszepoo, long ribbons of light were raised to the clouds from the powerful reflectors. The Consulate building and the area of the breakwater near the residence of Mr. E. S. Cunningham had been brightly illuminated with electric lights while long streamers of colored lights depended from the height of the great flagstaff in front of the Consul-General's residence.

Surmounting all this illumination and made faintly visible by it the Stars and Stripes floated from the top of the flag staff. In broad arcs the pencils of light from the warcraft swept over the sky and then an impressively dramatic thing happened when the power of all the searchlights was focussed upon the flag flowing in the breeze at the Consulate. The glow of lights on the clouds was discussed from all parts of Shanghai.

While the official program for the day ended with the conclusion of the Lawn party the celebrating of countrymen continued until late at night and all the cafes and places of public entertainment were filled to overflowing. It was said that the Carlton entertained the biggest crowd in its history last night and both the Astor House and the Palace Hotel Roof Garden were thronged.

JOYS FOR YOUNGSTERS

All of Shanghai's younger American expatriates saw yesterday, many of them for the first time, a real observance of the Fourth of July and in particular they were enabled to taste the joys of an American Fourth of July Picnic. This last was provided at the American Community Lawn party at the Shanghai Race Course which was one of the big events of the day.

In connection with the Lawn Party all of the members of the committee that arranged it were outspoken in their appreciation of the courtesy shown by the Shanghai Race Club and particularly by Mr. A. W. Olsen, Secretary of the Club.

"The whole American community is indebted to the Shanghai Race Club for the gracious way in which the Club granted the use of the grounds," said Dr. W. G. Holtner, chairman of the lawn party committee yesterday. "All of the members of our committee," he continued," are particularly grateful to Mr. Olsen, for he has devoted all of his efforts for the past three days to helping with the preparations for the affair."

The Lawn Party was unique in more than one respect. It opened at 5 o'clock in the afternoon just after the baseball game and was staged in the lawn in front of the main Grand Stand which quickly was packed to its full capacity with the crowds overflowing to the surrounding grounds.

MENAGERIE IN SKY

The display of daylight fireworks that continued from 5 o'clock until dusk was perhaps the most interesting exhibition of the kind that has been seen in Shanghai. With the full Municipal Band playing and while an exhibition of Chinese juggling and acrobatics was in progress the display of fireworks continued without interruption, populating the sky with a wonderful menagerie of beasts and reptiles, battleships and butterflies, giant human figures that soared gracefully over the heads of the throngs

SOVIETS WILL ACKNOWLEDGE CZAR'S DEBTS ON CONDITIONS

Main Consideration Is Extension Of Credits

WHAT SECURITY

Fact That "Russia Is Rich Country" Is All They Offer

(Reuter's Service)

The Hague, July 4.—The Soviet Delegation, in the course of a statement prior to today's meeting, acknowledge Russia's pre-war debts and declare that the Soviet will pay them, but they must have credits. If they do not get credits, they will not pay a penny. The fact that Russia is a rich country constitutes the chief guarantee. Russia is not prepared to restore private property to former owners, but will grant concessions on private property. They do not admit their liability as regards war debts.

CHARGE AGAINST EZRA ADJOURNED UNTIL JULY 11TH

Miss Shekury To Testify Regarding Injury In Motor Mishap

Following a lengthy word-battle between opposing sides the charges against Mr. Judah I. Ezra of causing bodily harm to Miss K. V. Shekury on June 20 by negligently driving a motor car were continued until July 11 by Magistrate G. W. King in the British Police Court yesterday. Mr. Ezra was allowed his freedom on bail on two sureties of $250 each. The continuance was granted in order to permit the court to hear the testimony of Miss Shekury, the complainant, who is still confined to the Shanghai General Hospital. The Magistrate let it be known that he may not try the case summarily but may commit Mr. Ezra for trial before a judge and jury on the charge.

Inspector Brown outlined the case for the police, saying that Miss Shekury would testify that she was sitting in a ricsha with the hood up, and that the motor car, coming towards her, struck the ricsha. Mr. M. B. Brown, counsel for the defendant, asked that the case be disposed of immediately, claiming that there was little damage done the ricsha and that Miss Shekury's injuries were not at all serious.

"It will be shown," he said, "that the defendant was on the right side of the road and that he was roced to the other side by the ricsha."

The Magistrate replied that under section 35 and 48 of the Offence Against the Person Act of 1861 he could commit the defendant if the Court thought that imprisonment of three months and fine was insufficient. If the Court thought that three months' imprisonment was not sufficient the case could be committed for trial. It was not a matter of what the defence was. It was whether a three months' imprisonment was sufficient for that offence. In some cases the defendant may have a better chance before a jury than before a Magistrate.

Mr. Brown said the defendant desired to be tried summarily.

Inspector Brown said the case could not be completed without the attendance of the physician and the complainant, and they would be present in Court within the next seven days.

The defendant was ordered to furnish two sureties of $250 each and the hearing fixed for July 11.

Mr. C. P. Holcomb of Fessender and Holcomb watched the case on behalf of Miss Shekury.

U.S. DESTROYERS LEAVING TODAY ON CHEFOO TRIP

Concentration Of American Naval Forces Here Comes To End

Two thousand American sailors of the destroyer squadrons attached to the U. S. Asiatic fleet, who have made Shanghai their home for the past four weeks, will leave this morning when the sixteen remaining destroyers, accompanied by their mother ship, the U. S. S. Buffalo, weigh anchor at 9 o'clock and start for the summer playground of the American naval forces in Asiatic waters at Chefoo.

The departure of the destroyers will leave in Shanghai only the U. S. S. Huron, flagship of the Asiatic fleet, and the U. S. S. Isabel, flagship of the Yangtsze patrol. The Huron will remain here until about July 10, when she will put out for Nagasaki to greet Secretary of the Navy Edwin S. Denby. How long the Isabel, with Rear-Admiral Bullard aboard, will remain in Shanghai has not yet been decided.

The leave-taking of the destroyers will bring to an end the greatest concentration of American naval forces in the Far East outside of the Philippines. The destroyers, originally eighteen in number, arrived here on June 6. The U. S. S. Tracy, one of the fleet, was dispatched to Hongkong following the revolt against Dr. Sun Yat-sen at Canton, and the U. S. S. Alden was sent to Japan a few days ago to escort Secretary Denby on his arrival at Yokohama.

The destroyers will travel to Chefoo at their cruising speed of fifteen knots an hour and expect to make port there within a day and a half. Prior to their departure, all will assemble off Woosung and form for the journey north. How long the vessels will remain in the North is still a matter of doubt. It is presumed, however, that after a few weeks' stay and the usual summer practice runs at Chefoo, all will start back to the Philippines, calling at Shanghai again on the way down.

GENERAL WRIGHT GUEST OF LEGION AT TIFFIN TODAY

Philippine Commander Here En Route To Tientsin

Major-General William M. Wright, U. S. A. commanding the Department of the Philippines, will be the guest of honor at Frederick Ward Post, American Legion, at a tiffin at the Carlton Cafe at 12:30 o'clock today. General Wright is in Shanghai en route to Tientsin to inspect the fifteenth U. S. Infantry stationed there. Accompanied by U. S. District Attorney Leonard G. Husar, he will leave tonight on the S. S. Woosung for Hankow, Peking and Tientsin.

Captain W. I. Elsler, commander of Frederick Ward Post, will preside as toastmaster at today's tiffin. U. S. Consul-General Edwin S. Cunningham, and the officers and committees of American organisations here have been invited to attend. More than three score reservations have been made for the affair already.

All who intend attending the tiffin today are urged to communicate with Mr. J. T. Wright at the American Consulate no later than 11 o'clock this morning.

TOKIO NAVAL PROGRAM OUT; SHOWS BIG CUTS

Announcement Reveals Intention To Reduce Armament

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, July 4.—A tentative naval program which is expected to be completed in 1928 and which is supplementary to vessels completed, building and contracted for, has been given out by the Navy Department. It includes four 10,000-ton and four 7,100-ton cruisers, 24 destroyers, totalling 33,600 tons, and 22 submarines, totalling 28,166 tons.

Compared with the former program this is a reduction of one cruiser, thirteen destroyers and 24 submarines or 13,395 tons.

The announcement of the program is accompanied by a statement by the Minister of the Navy that Japan has every intention of abiding by her engagements at Washington and that her plans prove that she reports that she is contemplating an expansion of her auxiliary Fleet are ill-founded and untrue.

Shanghai A Paradise Enow For Bank Clerk, Or Is It?

By Irene Corbally

"Well," sighed the Newest Griffin, who was making his way to the Lawn Party celebration at the Race Course from the American Club's "open house" yesterday and was feeling rather mellow.

"Well," he repeated, "the observance of this day is deeply embedded in the thoughts and habits of Americans and it is but natural that the celebration of Independence Day here in China should take on an even greater glow and warmth, induced by that distance between the Orient and the homeland which, on days like this, seems greater than it actually is."

"Say," said his young friend, the bank clerk, "break that conversation up in small pieces so an ordinary guy with only two ears can follow you."

"Shanghai is a great city," continued the N. G., obviously intent on translating his mellowness into a personally satisfactory monologue.

"I don't think I'll stay here, however," he went on. "A young fellow can't save any money in this town."

"Get on your foot," stormed the bank clerk whose business it is to stem any dangerous thought channels like this.

"How do you become that way? Why this is the greatest town in the world in which to save money. Servants are cheap, food doesn't cost much, nor clothes, and as for entertainment—well, that's cheap too," he finished.

ALWAYS SOMETHING

"It isn't that," replied the N. G., dolefully. "What I mean is that the reason I can't save any money here is that the banks don't stay open long enough to give me a chance to put it away and then something always Micawbers and on Number 1 day it's all gone.

"I came here day before New Year's at 1 o'clock," said the N. G. "Was the receiving teller glad to see me and all the little green ones I had for his safe? How should I know? He was among the missing in every bank in town for two days. Of course, I made myself at home in Shanghai and the banks lost a good customer when they yawningly reopened for their strenuous 3-hour-work, 2-hour-tiffin period two days after, for I hadn't anything to put in when they were ready to take it.

"It's been like that ever since," sighed the N. G. "When I had saved up enough again to warrant opening an account somewhere, they were closed for four days this time, while they helped the Chinese celebrate their New Year. I'm going home where the banks keep their doors open occasionally and leave their welcome mats out long enough to get them stepped on."

The young bank clerk bristled and spluttered. But he didn't say anything more. He didn't agree with the N. G. at all. In fact, when he went home that night he consulted his favorite work of fiction, the w.k Shanghai version of Sam Lloyd's puzzles, to wit, the hong list, to see just how few days off he got on his job.

DREADFULLY TIRING

He had always thought business hours rather long. Ten o'clock seemed an unholy hour in which to have to get ins'de the little brass bars, especially

CABINET CHANGES IMPENDING, SAY LONDON PAPERS

List Of Probable Transfers Is Being Published In British Press

(Reuter's Service)

London, July 4.—The newspapers state that important Cabinet changes are impending. It is anticipated that the Secretary of State for Home Affairs, Mr. Edward Shortt, will be elevated to the Bench and that Mr. Stanley Baldwin will leave the Board of Trade for the Home Office. Sir Hamar Greenwood, the Chief Secretary for Ireland, and Mr. Charles McCurdy, the Joint Parliamentary Secretary to the Treasury and Coalition Liberal Chief Whip, are both candidates for Cabinet posts, while it is thought that Sir Alfred Mond may leave the Ministry of Health to succeed Mr. Baldwin. Lord Curzon's illness rendering his return improbable, consequently Earl Balfour, who has been carrying out his duties, will become Foreign Secretary.

In the course of a speech he declared that they had fallen brothers in the spirit which had moved them to leave peaceful callings to hasten to the aid of their King and country.

The Chairman, Sir Hugo Cunliffe-Owen, mentioned that 385 of the Company's employees had joined the forces during the war, of whom over one-tenth, namely, 353, had been killed or died from wounds. One in 15 had earned decorations, including one Victoria Cross.

The Chinese delegates made proposals for the execution of an understanding concerning contracts and commitments, also regarding recent railway undertakings. The Japanese agreed to act in accordance with the stipulated terms of the understanding reached at Washington and reply to the Chinese proposals after further consideration.

The Commission exchanged views regarding the relations between the Shantung mines and the Tsingtau-Tsinan Railway, the discussion on which is being resumed on Friday.

Three Convicted On Lottery Charge

Three Chinese, arrested Saturday by a Chinese detective on a charge of conducting a Huo Wei lottery in an alleyway off Kweichow Road, were convicted before Assessor Blackburn and Magistrate Tsang in the Mixed Court yesterday. Testimony of the detective was to the effect that he had had previous knowledge that the men were conducting the lottery and that on arresting them he had recovered from one of them a bag containing 500 20-cent pieces, passbooks and chops used by the gamblers. Each of the accused, in turn, protested his complete innocence and declared that he merely happened to be passing by when the arrests were made. Dr. H. Fischer, who appeared for the defense, complained against alleged irregularities in the manner of their arrest. One of the defendants was sentenced to two months' imprisonment and the other two to one month each.

General Wu Going Back To Loyang

Peking, July 1.—General Wu Pei-fu has sent out a circular telegram to the various public bodies announcing his return to Loyang. He says that all legal affairs should be attended to by Parliament and administrative matters carried out by the Cabinet. There is, therefore, no reason for his further stay at Paotingfu. General Wu will call on General Feng Yu-hsiang on his way back to Loyang.

As usual opposition propagandists in Peking are engaged in active efforts to stir up strife, and the departure of General Wu is eagerly seized upon and exploited as an indication of a split between General Tsao Kun and Wu Pei-fu. Various causes of this alleged split are quoted but none carries conviction. Hitherto these propagandists have not seized upon the one potential cause of friction between Generals Wu and Tsao, namely, the latter's desire to occupy the Vice-Presidency and General Wu's belief that a Southerner should occupy that post in order to facilitate reunification. The report that General Tsao Kun wants the Vice-Presidency, however, is not borne out by his refusal to come to Peking. General Tsao has been invited to visit the capital several times recently but appears to be holding aloof from Peking and its politics, whereas, if he had not abandoned his ambitions for the present he would probably have taken the first opportunity to make his influence felt at the capital.

REBEL FORCES IN ERIN NEAR FALL, REPORT

Free State Forces Gradually Closing In On Rebels

(Reuter's Service)

London, July 4.—General O'Duffy, Chief of Staff of the National Army, interviewed this morning, said that he was absolutely satisfied that the revolt in Dublin had been broken.

A communique states that at 2.30 this morning the last position of the irregulars in O'Connell Street was surrounded and the thoroughfares to it barricaded to prevent escapes.

It is estimated that there are only 100 to 200 irregulars holding out and that these probably include Mr. de Valera and other leaders, but the rank and file are clearly tiring of the fight. Many have deserted.

The total casualties since June 28 are estimated at 60 killed and 200 wounded.

London, July 4.—After a day of relentless rifle and machine-gun firing, the Free State forces are gradually closing in on the rebels' stronghold of barricaded hotels in Sackville Street, the fall of which is regarded as imminent. It was reported late last night that one of the buildings was in flames. The irregular remnants are hemmed in within a radius of 700 square yards. It is estimated that they numbe 500.

It is rumored that Mr. de Valera has escaped. Governmen forces are conducting extensiv house to house searches.

Rebel concentrations are r ported in the mountains nea Dublin, also at Clonmel an Dunleer and in East Donegal and County Sligo and elsewhere. Irregulars on the northern border are holding up trains and seizing supplies and fortifying Glenveagh Castle in West Donegal. They have also seized Lord Templemore's residence on Inch Island.

London, July 3.—An attack was again opened in Dublin this morning on the rebels positions, which are now restricted to the Sackville Street area. Armored cars and machine-guns were again chiefly used. De Valera is believed to be at Hamman's Hotel, which is bearing the brunt of the attack.

The prisoners, whom the three shells yesterday compelled to surrender from Moran's Hotel, were Communists who had been very troublesome. Snipers and other rebels retreated through tunnels, driven beneath the buildings.

A journalist drove in a jaunting-car through Sackville Street during a few hours' lull this morning. He found scarce an inch of glass left in the windows of the buildings, the walls of which were heavily pitted with bullets.

There were no signs of the defenders but fighting was resumed at ten o'clock this morning. It was fiercest at one o'clock this afternoon when the rebels were responding vigorously to the Free Staters' fire.

A great crowd again watched the fighting. All despatches from Dublin are now marked "Passed by Censor."

London, July 3. (Later).—A fierce battle has been raging in Dublin intermittently throughout the day. The National Army communiques this afternoon report continued closing-in operations, cutting off the communications of the irregulars within the restricted area. The irregulars have been driven out of practically all their posts on the south side of the city and there have been considerable captures of prisoners and arms. The National forces have regained possession of the National Bank.

London, July 3.—News from Dublin is conflicting. According to some report the rebel headquarters have shown the white flag but other reports state that the red-cross flag was mistaken for the white flag.

The truth appears to be that operations were suspended for the night. The rebels are still holding the hotels and other buildings in Sackville Street but are completely invested.

They now occupy practically only an area, seven hundred yards long in the center of the city and confined to Sackville Street, Marlborough Street which is parallel to Sackville Street, and Parnell Square.

London, July 3.—While the Free State troops continue to round up rebels in the provinces of Ireland, the situation in some parts of three Counties of Cork and Limerick occasions anxiety. It is reported that the Republicans have concentrated at Cork, Fermoy, Mallow and other places, are commandeering motorcars, food and clothing, and are preparing for a siege. All papers are being censored.

This Ship Will Not Be Scrapped!

THOUSANDS of kiddies—big ones, small ones, fat ones, lean ones—took part in the baby parade at Ocean Park, Cal. Thirty thousand persons turned out, to witness the procession. The ship used by these two youngsters will not be scrapped in the Hughes Naval Disarmament program.

Shanghai A Paradise Enow For Bank Clerk, Or Is It?

since it mean, arising at least as early as 9:30, after a big night, too. Then, tiffin hour, when one hasn't breakfasted, except for four poached eggs, some toast and coffee, is in the nebulous distance, especially when the boarding-house is fifteen minutes' ride from the bank. That half-hour's going and returning certainly cuts down the two hours for tiffin, appreciably.

Then, it always seemed so foolish to the young bank clerk to have to go back to work after tiffin just because a few customers might come into the bank in the afternoon, before the doors closed at 3, what with all the tea dances going full blast and Shanghai's best feminine versions of the finale hoppers waiting breathlessly for his 'phone calls.

The life of a bank clerk in Shanghai, despite our young friend's dissatisfaction, is strewn not with the proverbial roses but with silk shirts, jade cuff links, dozens of invitations to all sorts of indoor and outdoor sports, and plenty of leisure in which to wear the former and enjoy the latter.

After he recovers from the shock of work for a short period after four days of Chinese New Year's merrymaking, there come three days more off, one for before, one for, and one for after Easter. The next "at home" is on Empire Day, as important to the English people as Fourth of July is to the Americans. Dragon Boat Festival, a Chinese settling day, allows our busy young man to catch up on sleep lost since the last previous holiday, a week or so back.

Whether he is religiously inclined or not, he is expected not to fail to take advantage of the Whit Monday holiday that, according to the date of the festival of Easter may come before Dragon Boat, as it did last year, or after, as happened this spring.

The banks, not satisfied with observing the holidays that everyone else does, declare two days for official summer holidays, on the first and second of the seventh month, as a combination welcome to July and a preparation for summer heat and mosquito battles. Their generosity impels them further for there is another special day of rest, called, officially, a bank holiday, and occurring this year the first week in August.

Shanghai summers are excessively warm and moist and all that. No one can deny their enervating effects, especially on the young men in business who are forced to use up much valuable brain cells in a daily workout with the intricate mathematical gymnastics of the exchange in China. So, following the usual two weeks' vacation, to which everyone who labors for a living is entitled, the banking institutions declare another day off on the mid-autumn festival in October. The transformation of China from an empire into a republic also calls for another 24 hours' respite from work in which to indulge in pious reflection on the fading of the past and its traditions.

In order that the married bank clerks may play Santa Claus to their youngsters, the generous officials again give them one day in which to prepare their costumes and snow-white beards and another day in which to bawl out the cook boy for forgetting to put rum into the Christmas pudding.

The bank clerk has cause for dissatisfaction, all right. They put one over on him on Saturdays, for instead of giving him the full half-holiday to which he is entitled, they give him only one-third. He works two hours instead of the regular week-day three.

P. S.—Lest every ordinary hard-working Shanghailander burst out immediately into a fever of application writing in an endeavor to become connected with some local financial institution, it might be well to add here and now that bank clerks in Shanghai as elsewhere really do work a bit more than occasionally, and that bank holidays, as scheduled in the calendar, are not necessarily holidays for them.

Gen. Tsao Urges Help For Schools

(Chung Mei Service)

Peking, July 1.—General Tsao Kun has sent out a telegram calling attention to the great need of straightening out the educational problems of the country. While he admits he is a military man and has no knowledge of political administration, he does see the great importance of putting education on its feet and enlarging its scope. Although he thinks but little has been done toward improving the educational system during the ten years of the Republic, even this little is not being taken advantage of in full and this added to the lack of money, cause him great worry. A country full of uneducated people cannot but fall into a dangerous pit, the contemplation of which "makes me shiver without cold."

All Shanghai Takes Part In American Celebration

and outlines of every description. Particularly striking were the gracefully flowing American flags loosed by explosions high in the air. The Stars and Stripes appeared in great single flags attached to parachutes and also attached to long streamers of flags of all nations. Thousands of Chinese filled all the approaches to the Race Club grounds and marvelled at the sights unfolded with upturned faces and craning necks.

CHILDREN IN DRILL

One of the early events of the Lawn Party was the flag drill by some sixty American children under the direction of Miss Eleanor Kitchen of the physical training department of the Young Women's Christian Association. Playing of the Star Spangled Banner by the band brought the whole throng to its feet with the many sailors present standing at salute and it was following this that the marching line of children clad in white, each bearing an American flag, appeared on the lawn to the enlivening strains of Sousa's Stars and Stripes Forever. The marchers were led by two of the older girls of the American School bearing silken American flags.

The marchers came to a stop each standing before an American flag in an area of the lawn that had been prepared for the drill which then was held. At its conclusion the march was resumed to be stopped again when the lines formed the letters U. S., a feature that called forth bursts of applause.

STRIKING TABLEAUX

Another striking feature of the program were the tableaux given by American children under the direction of Miss Bernice Austin of the Music Department of the American School. These took place on the decorated stage that had been built facing the grandstand.

The tableaux shown depicted phases and incidents of various periods of the history of the United States. In the opening picture was shown a group of American Indians. Another presented a puritan couple returning from church, the man with his musket on his shoulder. Another, a historic incident, revealed the making of the first American flag by Betsy Ross. In the final picture Uncle Sam in full regalia stood in the center of a group of little girls holding American flags.

The lawn in front of the pari-Mutual pavilion had been filled with tables and chairs and these were brought into use shortly after 6 o'clock when the basket supper was served. Most of the American families that attended brought ample supplies of provender and the wants of all comers were supplied without stint. What might be termed lemonade and ice cream cone lines quickly were formed about this time in front of the base from which the cones and lemonade were supplied. Though the call for cones and lemonade was heavy, the supply proved adequate for every need.

Some fear was felt late in the afternoon that the menace of wet weather carried by the leaden skies would be realised and though it sprinkled a little with the falling of darkness the rain held off and the moving picture exhibition was given with complete success. The picture shown was 'A Modern Musketeer', one of Douglas Fairbanks' biggest successes.

While the moving pictures were being shown the electrical searchlight display of the American fleet in the Whangpoo opened and it was found that the grandstand at the Race Course was one of the best places from which to witness the spectacular display.

It is probable that the opening event of yesterday's program staged for the first time in connection with the Fourth of July observance here will be continued in future years. This was the Flag Raising at the Consulate early in the morning.

A fair-sized crowd of Americans, including many children, gathered at the Consulate-General shortly before 8 o'clock when two sailors from the American Asiatic fleet hoisted the Stars and Stripes into the gentle breeze from the river vibrating its red and white stripes into life. A guard of honor composed of members of the American Company, S. V. C., and United States Marines from the U. S. S. Huron stood at attention as the flag was hoisted.

Consul-General E. S. Cunningham then continued a time-hallowed rite of American Independence Day celebrations by reading the Declaration of Independence, and Lieut. Robert A. Lavender of the U. S. Huron delivered a short address on 'The Flag.' Lieut. Lavendar confined his remarks to the use of the flag emphasizing that no other flag was ever hoisted above the American flag except the church banner when religious services were being held in either the army or navy.

FLAGS FOR CHILDREN

"The flag is always hoisted at sunrise, the first emblem of the new day, quickly," Lieut. Lavender said," and at sunset it is lowered slowly—just as though we were fully concious that we could leave it up all night or forever, if we wished, and lower it only with a full knowledge that it is never lowered except at our own wish."

At the conclusion of the ceremonial small silk flags were distributed to the children present, and lapel flags to all who were present.

From the flag-raising the program shifted to Hongkew Park where 'gobs' from the twenty American warships in port participated in the Navy track and field meet of fourteen events. The first heats in the various races and the preliminary events began at 9:30 o'clock and continued through the morning.

CONSULATE RECEPTION

At 11:30 o'clock Consul-General and Mrs. Cunningham held a reception for Chinese and Municipal officials, the Consular body, Navy officers and members of committees of various organisations representing the community. The toast of the day was made by Rear Admiral W. H. G. Bullard, commander of the American Yangtze patrol.

The Chinese officials present at the consulate reception included Mr. C. F. Hsu, Special Commissioner of Foreign Affairs and his secretaries, Messrs. S. K. Chen and N. T. Yang; Tuoyin Wang Keng-ting; Judge T. S. K. Loh and Colonel Wang Yu-nung, representing the Defence Commissioner; Commander Kao, representing Admiral Tu Shih-kwei, Commander-in-Chief of the Navy; Magistrates Shen Pao-chang, Yui Yin-yong, Nieh Yung-ching and Chen Chi-shou.

The Consul-General's reception was followed by the reception at the American Club at which all male Americans and their friends were invited guests. Dr. W. T. Findley, president of the American Club, presided at a short formal meeting at which Major-General Wright, Commanding General of the Philippine department and the American forces in China, and represenatives of the various Consulates in Shanghai proposed toasts.

BASEBALL GAME

At 3 o'clock in the afternoon the premier sporting event of the day—the baseball game for the Challenge Cup between Shanghai and the All-Navy nine was played at the Race Course grounds, and at 4 o'clock the reception on the U. S. S. Huron, Flagship of the fleet was held and continued until 6 o'clock. Boats left the public jetties at frequent intervals through this period and hundreds employed the opportunity to visit the Flagship.

TENNIS AT CRICKET CLUB

Additional early-evening attractions were the reception at the Columbia Country Club for members and their friends and the tennis match between the University of California team and four players representing Shanghai. The tennis started at 4:30 o'clock, at the Cricket Club Courts.

"From Winchester Town To Save The Day."

Sheridan's famous horse. WC

FOR many years, in the old Quartermaster Building on Governors Island, New York harbor, the chief object of interest was Winchester, the famous horse General Philip Sheridan, dashing cavalry leader, rode in the Civil War. After his death, Winchester was "mounted," saddled and equipped as he was when General Sheridan saved the day by his twenty-mile gallop to re-form his shattered lines. Winchester has now been removed to the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, after a fitting ceremony.

Palace Employes Lopped Of Payroll

(Chung Mei Service)

Peking, July 1.—In line with the general retrenchment policy, a Presidential Mandate has deprived 250 employees of the palace of their jobs. This coming just as President Li Yuan-hung is about to occupy it, might indicate a democratic trend of Affairs. On the other hand, maybe someone sees possibilities of filling these vacancies with his own retainers.

It is also reliably said that President Li has requested that the bodyguards of the Palace be replaced by ordinary police guards. These seem more fitting in the home of a President of a Republic than soldiers.

Again Denies Old Charges Of Murder And Theft

(China Press Service)

Yokohama, June 28.—Characterising as groundless libels the charges of murder, theft and bigamy which were laid against him in the United States and professing to see in the charges only new manifestations of what he terms the ceaseless Bolshevist campaign against him, General Gregoriov Semenoff, former Ataman of the Cossacks and anti-Bolshevik leader, is now in hospital here having arrived on the Empress of Asia. He will go on to Shanghai as soon as possible.

Apparently undaunted by the rebuffs and the blows of fate which he suffered in the United States, the Ataman on his arrival greeted newspaper men cordially and expressed undying hostility to the Soviet regime in Russia. He still hopes for a revival of his military fortunes as the leader in a campaign against the Bolsheviks who, he says, are bound to crash in 1923.

General Semenoff at present is uncertain as to his plans after he reaches Shanghai. Prior to going to the United States several months ago, whence he had planned to go to Paris, the Ataman had been living in Tientsin, but expressed doubt that he would return there. He said he might go to Harbin and later to Mukden. He expressed the hope that he might get in touch with Chang Tso-lin, deposed warlord of Manchuria, a close personal friend of his, and discuss the general military situation in Siberia with him.

WIFE WITH HIM

General Semenoff, accompanied by the young woman whom he says is his legal wife, but whom Mrs. Z. Semenoff, his first wife, who lives in Yokohama, asserts is not legally wedded to him, looked none the worse for his experiences in the United States which he admitted were far from being monotonous, including as they did a four-day term in Ludlow street jail, New York City. When Asia arrived he was suffering considerable pain from an old rifle shot wound in his leg and he had used a crutch virtually throughout the voyage, passengers on the steamer said.

He had no passport and was not permitted to land at first.

Mrs. Z. Semenoff, who insists she is the only legal wife of the former Ataman, did not attempt to see him. Mrs. Semenoff had booked passage for Europe on the steamer Hakozaki Maru, which left Yokohama Saturday, but had cancelled shortly before the ship left. That gave rise to the rumor that she was determined to gain an audience with her husband, but if that was her intention when she cancelled her reservation on the Hakozaki Maru, she did not carry it out.

DENIES GUILT

Concerning the charges of murder of American soldiers by his troops in Siberia, made against him in the United States Senate, he denied any complicity in such acts. He said that clashes between the Cossacks under him and American soldiers had occurred, but that any causualties could not be laid against him. As to the alleged theft of thousands of dollars of furs in Siberia, he said that many acts of confiscation had taken place under his orders, but insisted that confiscation always had been carried out according to military law.

The Ataman refused to consider the charges of bigamy seriously. He insists vehemently that his second marriage was legal and declares that his divorce and marriage papers were examined by the immigration authorities at Vancouver on his entrance there several months ago and found entirely in order. Had they been otherwise, he pointed out, the immigration authorities would not have allowed him to land.

He expressed keen disappointment that his detention in the United States had blocked his plans to go to Paris to discuss the Russian situation with the monarchists there but said that he had been visited while in the United States by a representative of the Russian group in Paris.

ALL NAVY NINE TAKES BIG COMMUNITY BASEBALL CUP FROM SHANGHAI CLUB TEAM

Hopkins Hurling And Breaks Give Fleet A Win By Score Of 6-2

The Shanghai Baseball club lost the American Community baseball cup yesterday afternoon to an all-Navy nine, composed of the best players from twenty or more boats stationed here for the holiday. It was the first time that Shanghai had ever opposed an all-fleet team for the trophy. In previous years the Fourth game had been played with a one boat's or one divisions' nine. The game this year pitted the best baseballers of the Far East against the local nine. The Navy won by a score of 6-2.

Shanghai got a fair start in the very first inning when Bills, safe on a fielders choice was sent around the circuit on Kingman's double and Hopkins single. The game looked even-up for three innings until the Navy players got to Scott in the fourth for four singles, which, combined with a sacrifice, a passed ball and an infield error gave a total of four runs, which the local nine never could pass. Later runs were of no importance. The Fleet nine won the game and the cup in that fourth inning. There were a few scattering scores following but they were not of value.

Shanghai had many chances to hit in more runs but they failed when hits meant runs. They outhit the Navy 10 to 9, but failed to rap them out when runs were possible. The left on base item in the summary tells a big tale. Shanghai had 13 base runners stranded during the fray, while the Fleet had but 6 men left.

Consul General Cunningham threw the first ball.

It had a fast break on it, too.

Also a lotta smoke.

Not to mention the old zip.

It shot over the corner of the platter so fast that Brosek couldn't see it.

He swung wildly at it but missed it a mile.

"If that isn't pitching," chortled Holby Gallop after the Ambassador's fast one had made the navy slugger look foolish, "then I'm the prime minister of Patagonia."

Bills made a nice stop of a hot one from Radcliffe's bat that skipped by Holliday. He was too deep for a throw, but he held the navy first sacker to a single on a punch that was labeled for two sacks.

There certainly was a flock of customers on hand.

Also a flock of duly accredited war correspondents in the press stand.

"Duly accredited" har! har!

Brosek, short stopping for the sailors, made some nice stops and throws. That bird has a million dollar whip.

Scymanski dropped a nice one just back of Bills in the third. The shortstopper made a frantic grab for it, but couldn't quite reach.

Holliday sent a teaser down to Radcliffe in the third, and in the ensuing foot race for the base Walter got the decision. Both men hit the dirt going into the bag.

Bills, playing in close for Cluni in the fourth, made a beautiful stop and throw to Smith at the plate, getting his man by an eyelash.

Insurance Smith, the Shanghai wicket keeper, had a ravenous appetite for fouls, gobbling three hard ones in rare style.

Smith had two close put outs at the plate, and in both instances he clenched the old pul with a death grip, taking no chance of having it knocked out of his hands. If Walter Holliday had taken the same precaution he would have got Cluni in the sixth after Scott caught him napping at second. Bills made a perfect relay to Walter, but the runner brushed the ball out of his hands.

Hopkins, pitching for the sailors, turned in a beautiful game, as he usually does. Four times he pulled himself out with runners on second and third. "If that isn't pitching," warbled Manager Tyler after the navy flinger had extricated himself in the seventh, "then I don't know a baseball from a dill pickle dumping."

Our old friend Petracek, the 38th division catcher, was in right for the sailors. He didn't have much to do, however, and for once in his life he was quiet. Maybe the big crowd made him bashful. The Pole is a hardworking, capable ball player, even if he is a bit noisy.

Wall pushed through the crowd in left and cursed almost to Thibet road to pull down a foul from Scymanski's bat in the fourth. The grandstand didn't know he had made the catch until the rainbirds began to applaud. For good measure the Shanghai gardener stepped up in the very next inning and slammed out a scorching single to left.

Shanghai will wait long and look far before seeing another first sacker as good as that boy Radcliffe. He isn't very tall, but he has a lot of India Rubber in his constitution, which enables him to stretch all over the lot for wide ones. He's the Stuffy McInis of the navy.

Shanghai got ten blows off Hoppy, but he kept them well scattered, which accounts for the paucity of runs on our side of the scort sheet. Scotty turned in a good game except for the fatal fourth, in which chukker the sailors nicked him for four solid smashes, each of which they cashed for a run.

Manager Gallop would make a tremendous hit with the working scribes by putting a door on the press stand, with a large padlock on it. Yesterday the war correspondents who were out there on business had to take their notes standing up, the "duly accrediteds" having grabbed all the seats.

The umpires had rather an easy day of it. Jimmy Logan, who was

CALIFORNIANS WIN SINGLES, BUT LOSE DOUBLES TO ALL OF SHANGHAI; PLAY AT RECS TODAY

Wade And Ollerdessen To Play Bates And Conrad At 4:30 O'clock

The feature match yesterday afternoon on the Shanghai Cricket Club courts between Wallace Bates, captain of the University of California team against Parbury of the local players, showed that in spite of the extremely poor playing conditions, excellent tennis was possible. Bates won the match 6-4, 6-2, 6-3.

There was never a doubt of the outcome after the first five games. Parbury played an excellent game of second class doubles, but in the singles he was greatly outclassed by his clever opponent. The point score shows that Bates made more outs and nets than his opponent. His winning strokes however were three or four times more numerous than Parbury's.

Bates has an excellent service which he used to very good advantage. In spite of a low bounding ball his fore handed drive was accurate although a bit short. He also had a chop stroke which he placed very accurately. He had a rather awkward looking backhand which however seemed to win more points for him than any other stroke.

The Californian played almost entirely a back-court game. In three sets he had only four kills at the net. Parbury played his usually steady and accurate game. The fact that he seemed not up to his usual form was probably due to Bates' shots were so much more severe than any of our local players are capable of. It was probably Bates skill rather than Parbury's absence of form that won the match.

If Shanghai could not win the singles today against the Californians, it is very doubtful if they ever may, for with the exception of Bates, none of these men have ever played on grass courts. They are accustomed to a high bounding ball with the absolutely true bounce coming on an asphalt court. Conditions such as they have been, the ground being soft slippery and the ball low bounding, every condition was in Shanghai's favor.

The first set started with Bates serving. Parbury took his serve principally on Bates' wildness. The third game which Bates won went to deuce twice, and was won on errors. Parbury made it two all, on Bates' nets. Bates again won his service on errors. Parbury took his service, making it three all. In the seventh game Bates lost his service for the first time. That was the best game of the

"Stuffy" McInnis

JOHN S. ("Stuffy") McInnis, first baseman of the Cleveland Indians and last year with the Boston Red Sox, played 167 consecutive games without making an error, breaking a world's record. He made the error at Detroit June. Before that he hadn't made one since May 20, 1921, when he muffed a wide throw. In his errorless play he handled 1,531 put-outs and ninety-four assists, a total of 1,625 chances. The last error was charged against him because someone who should have covered third base wasn't there to catch McInnis's throw.

SUMMER SWIM EVENTS BEGIN THIS EVENING

The summer series of races and sundry aquatic events under the auspices of the Shanghai Rowing Club starts this evening at the club's bath at 9:15 sharp. Intending competitors are requested to be in attendance by 9 o'clock, so as to enable the handicappers to adjust the imposts.

The mid-week miniature galas are always held on Wednesdays and are open to the general public, free of charge. The events for tonight are: One length (any stroke) handicap: Two lengths back stroke handicap: Team Race: Water Polo. Already some twenty members have signed the lists as intending to take part tonight and a good display of swimming, etc. is looked for.

The first home in each final event is allotted 4 points, the second 3, the third 2 and each competitor who completes the distance or competition receives 1 point. At the end of the season the aggregate points obtained during the series are added up and the highest three competitors receive prizes.

MRS. MALLORY AND MLLE. LENGLEN GO TO 4TH ROUND

(Reuter's Service)

London, July 3.—The weather was showery and there was only a moderate attendance at Wimbledon today. The remaining five matches in the fourth round of the Singles resulted in the elimination of the two remaining Continentals, M. Cochet being beaten by Mr. Anderson 6-2, 6-0, 6-4 and Senor Flaquer by Mr. O'Hara Wood 6-2, 6-4, 11-9. The Singles are now purely an Anglo-Australian affair, those in the fifth round being Messrs. Lycett, Davison, Mavrogordato, Gilbert, Anderson, O'Hara Wood, Patterson and the Hon. Cecil Campbell, who are paired in the order given, therefore the great Anderson-Patterson meeting will probably occur in the semi-final.

Mrs. Mallory and Mlle. Lenglen advanced into the fourth round of the Ladies' Singles and progress was made in all the doubles sections. In the Ladies' Doubles Mrs. Stocks and Miss McKane beat Miss Scott and Miss Lumley 6-2, 6-4.

The course fired was a combination of Bisley and U. S. Navy practices, and the officers and men of the fleet are to be complimented on their sporting spirit in entering a match of this kind with practically no opportunity for previous practice.

Captain Olsen of the American Co., was Range Officer, assisted by Corps Sergt. Major Leighton of the S.V.C.

back of the bat, satisfied both the athletes and the grandstand, which is some feat. Dinny Doyle, on the bases, got by without a kick. As an announcer, however, Dinny is probably the best city editor that ever hit this port.

Wood, the Shanghai infielder checked in at the ball park just before the game, but he checked out almost at the same time. He was on his way, he said, to the hospital, for treatment for dysentery. Walter Holliday was thereupon conscripted for duty at the hot corner, and did very well indeed.

The admiral, or captain, or whoever he was that presented the cup to Captain Callery after the game should take a lesson or two in elocution. He made a spooch to the assembled athletes but nobody knows what he said, not even the recipient of the silver emblem, who stood only three feet away. Speak up, Cap., we're all with you, and any guy that makes fun of your will get his block knocked off.

Suggestion to all baseball fans: Come on up in the press stand if you want to get a better view of the games. You certainly have as much right in the press stand as anybody else (having paid your ten seeds, Mex., for a season ticket) Maskee whether the regular scribes have elbow room to do their work. Demand your rights, by all means! Besides, the poor boobs who are paid to write baseball for the papers will enjoy listening to your sapient comments on the shortcomings of Captain Hoppy's strategy.

Cluni, or "Wop," as his teammates call him, has shown a fine brand of infield play ever since the destroyers hit port. The Wop is not spectacular, but he is sure and steady, which is what counts in the long run. In the field and at bat Cluni has put up a dependable brand of baseball, and real students of the game in Shanghai will sincerely regret his passing from our midst. We hope to see you again, Wop, old kid!

This little chap, Callery, who yesterday was in left field for the sailors, is a real ball player, and no mistake. He is deadly on fly balls, and as for his whip, no outfielder who has played here has a better one. Yesterday, after gobbling a fly, he slammed the ball into Dunlap's mit on a line, the accuracy and deadliness of the throw eliciting much admiration from those of the fans who understand and appreciate throwing ability in the outfield. In all departments of the game this boy Callery is a star.

Cable Smith, playing centerfield for Shanghai yesterday, has a way of getting in front of ground balls to the outfield that could be emulated to advantage by other outfield aspirants on the Shanghai team. Smith makes absolutely sure of stopping grounders. If he is in doubt about stopping them with his hands, he drops on one knee in front of them, thus making sure of stopping them with his body. That is the proper way to play ground balls in the outfield. Sometimes it looks awkward and clumsy, but better stop them with the body than to take the chance of attempting a graceful stop with the hands, only to have them trickle through for a home run.

set. It was marked with excellent play by Parbury. The eighth saw Bates breaking through and taking Parbury's service for a love game. In the ninth Bates won his service and then took the tenth and final game of the set after deuce had been called four times. That latter was the best game of the full set and was won largely on earned points rather than on errors. The set ended Bates 6, Parbury 4.

Bates had very little trouble in the second set and ran three straight games by beautiful placement shots. Parbury took his service for a love game on four straight errors by Bates. Bates made it four to one on Parbury's outs. Parbury got his second and last game on four nets by Bates. The seventh game was the best set. Bates won the eight game for game and set after deuce had been called once. The second set ended Bates 6, Parbury 2.

The third and final set was in many ways the best of the match. Bates evidently was confident of winning and hit out more freely. There were only two games in this set that went to deuce. Bates took the first three games straight, and Parbury took the fourth. Bates got the next two making it five to one. The seventh and eighth games went to Parbury, on Bates' errors and trying to hit the line every time. The ninth went to deuce twice. Bates won the game by hard smashes and a beautiful passing shot which won the game set and match. The score for the set was Bates 6, Parbury 3.

KIANGSI CHIEF LACKS FAITH IN NEW PRESIDENT

Gen. Li Lieh-chun Bitter Against Peking Executive

(Independence News Service)

Hankow, July 1.—President Li Yuan-hung's overtures for compromise to General Li Lieh-chun, to whom the new President sent a most cordial invitation to abandon his hostile stand toward Peking and come to Peking to help readjust the tangled affairs of China upon President Li's reinstatement, are evidently failing to induce that Kuomingtang magnate to waive his radical and even arrogant constitutionalism, in spite of the fact that Dr. Sun Yat-sen, the head of the radical Kuomingtang group, has been routed from Canton.

The new President at Peking is condemned by General Li Lieh-chun in a circular telegram, to which six of his colleagues are joint signatories with the qualification of "representing Kiangsu, Kiangsi, Anhwei, Shansi and Shantung," as the continuation of the old spurious governments. Even as head of the bogus administration, he declares, Li Yuan-hung has no legal title to the president which General Li Lieh-chun disputes in the following light:

"Legally, a presidential term of five years expired in October, 1918. During this term, Li Yuan-hung was, at the beginning, the Vice President. He succeeded to the Presidency upon the death of Ex President Yuan Shih-kai. Upon the escape of General Li Yuan-hung from Peking during the monarchical coup Feng Kuo-chang ascended to the post of Chief Executive. Therefore, legally speaking there is now no ground for reinstatement. This is the first reason why General Li Yuan-hung has no legal claim to assuming Presidency.

TUCHUN OUT OF HAND

"Secondly, when the insolent Tuchuns revolted in 1917 General Li Yuan-hung, instead of suppressing the rebellious chiefs, shamefully acceded to their request and signed the Mandate of June 12 which dissolved the only legal Parliament of China. He broke his faith in the constitution and exposed the country to various disasters. By thus losing his manhood, he forfeited his right of tenure of this office.

"Thirdly, after the dissolution of the constitution, Chang Hsun staged his dramatic and sad schemes for the restoration of the defunct Manchu regime. During this crisis, General Li failed to stick to his post faithfully against Chang Hsun's intrigues to wreck the Republican administration, and by relinquishing the trust in him of the post of Chief Excutive, he escaped for life.

DECLARES LI'S ACT TREASON

"According to the constitution, when the President committed a treason, he should be tried at a special tribunal. Now General Li Yuan-hung evaded the trust of the position of Presidency, and left the care and control of the Republic unheeded. Therefore, he is guilty of high treason, and should be held responsible for the charge of treason rather than be reinstated."

General Li Lieh-chun and his colleagus add that militarists of the Chihli faction are simply using General Li Yuan-hung and the so-called Parliament as the means for their successful exploitation of China, and have no patriotism in their schemes at all. This same group of unscrupulous militarists reinstate General Li Yuan-hung to the Presidential chair will be the ones that will dictate illegal acts to Li's administration. They will be the same men that will force Li Luan-hung to go apart from the constitution that their selfish ends may be consummated.

Since the prospect for reunification in China was opened with the exit from Peking's Presidential palace of Mr. Hsu Shih-chang, the northern militarists should seize the opportunity to organize the legal and formal government of China by reassembling the legal Parliament of China and work out a legal background whereby the election of a second Parliament can be effected. In that way there is hope that the country may be unified on a sound legal basis.

"We can not tear to see Li Yuan-hung, now illegally reinstated, who damages the nation and brings disasters on the people, again exploit the nation. The prosperity or of a nation is the common duty of every freeman, and we are looking to might as to what is right." This is the emphatic concluding part of General Li Lieh chun's public denunciation of President Li Yuan-hung.

The foreign population seem to feel safe now and have refused to go aboard the gunboats, two of which are still standing by. This change is apparently due to the fact that the disturbing Kiangsi troops are being taking in hand and reorganised.

Wu Pei-fu Explains Why He Made War

(China Mei Service)

Peking, July 1.—General Wu Pei-fu has addressed a telegram to the President and the country at large explaining his position in the late war: "I am a military man, and consequently cannot interfere with the political administration. The country is still full of trouble and fighting and the people have suffered too much already. I am sorry that we had to have the recent war and beg to have my position excused by all educated people. The acts of the Fengtien troops scared the people greatly, and, commanded by General Tsao, and petitioned by the people of Chihli, I fought against these forces, and through the help of my subordinates was successful. Because of the conditions at that time, there was no other course, and even postponing it would not have helped. Now matters are progressing favorably through the efforts of the big men of the country, and I have decided to go to Loyang and attend to my military duties there, at the same time putting political problems out of my mind. I can do nothing but hope that the President and all the representatives in both houses of Parliament, will work out ways to put the country in a state of peace and ease the minds of the people."

Exchange Fluctuations

Asia Banking Corporation

July 4, 1922

The latest quotation for bar silver in London is 36½d. for both spot and forward.

The New York price is 71⅝ cents, and the London-New York cross rate 443¼.

Our official Sterling rate here today was unchanged from Friday last.

The Gold Dollar rate was raised to 79¼, the Yen rate dropped to 60½, and the Franc rate raised to 950.

Our market was inclined to be firm at the opening, a small amount of business being done as high as 3/7½ for July Sterling, and 80¼ for Gold Dollars. However, speculators became strong buyers, and the market eased off, until at the Tiffin interval there were no sellers of Sterling at better than 3/7¼ for July August, and of Gold Dollars at 79¾.

The market, however, was steady at this level.

There were a few Franc bills offering today, banks buying four months' sight bills at 980.

Gold Dollar bills were quoted at 81½, and Sterling bills at 3-8⅛.

The London silver market is reported as firm, with China and India buying.

New York report their market as steady.

Gospel Of Work And Saving

MUCH attention was paid in England to the recent address on the way to revive trade made by Mr. Reginald McKenna. As a former Chancellor of the Exchequer and at present Chairman of the London Joint City and Midland Bank, his words have experience behind them, along with full knowledge of present conditions. Mr. McKenna points out briefly but sorrowfully the popular delusions about industry and commerce which prevailed for a year or more after the end of the war. It was a period of unfounded optimism. Instead of soberly realising the fact that the immense losses in man-power and in wealth were certain to demand sacrifice and patient toil in order to recover, people everywhere acted as if there were reasonable hope that we might all attain "a higher material standard of life, with less effort and shorter hours of work." From that dream the world has had a painful awakening. It has now got around to accepting, in general, the lesson which it should have taken to heart amid the artificial prosperity of 1919, that there is no short cut to national prosperity, and that steady effort is the only way to work out a country's industrial salvation.

Mr. McKenna's position as a great banker gives authority to his reading of the financial signs of the times. In England, as in the United States, money is now cheap. The effect is to raise the price of securities, but Stock Exchange activity is not the same thing as revival of trade. It may foreshadow the latter, though it is accepted in New York as implicitly as it is in London that an unusual abundance of loanable funds is a sure indication of inactivity in general trade. Mr. McKenna prefers to apply strictly banking tests. What is the movement in advances and acceptances? Are manufacturers and merchants needing more money to finance their business? Is their turnover more rapid? To these questions Mr. McKenna replies that in each case the volume is enlarging, but that not even all taken together indicate a coming boom. "Though the pace may disappoint us, it is in the right direction."

Foreign markets are indispensable to British industry and it is natural that Mr. McKenna should point to trade interests abroad as entering vitally into the problem of British reconstruction. Here, too, he sees many encouraging signs, though he utters more than one warning. A surface improvement in export trade, such as has been recently noted in official reports, may be somewhat misleading. England has, during the past few months, made considerable loans to the Dominions and the Colonies. By the credits thus created, British goods have been purchased and sent abroad. But in return the customary imports have not been received. Thus this trade is virtually trade on long terms. But Mr. McKenna lays down the sound principle, "The true purpose of an export is to pay for an import." "There is a limit to the development of trade if exports are sold on credit to be repaid over many years."

In the long run, there is no getting away, for man or nation, from the maxim that better times can come only with harder work and larger savings. Mr. McKenna drives home once more the crippling effect on trade of high taxes. In addition to their moral and disheartening effect on the trader, they prevent "that growth of capital which is indispensable to all progressive business." As a banker, Mr. McKenna declares: "I have seen too many balance sheets not to know the sterilising part which excessive taxation plays." Therefore what is to be demanded of Governments, as the best contribution which they can make to trade recovery, is rigid economy in public expenditure, rendering possible a lowering of taxes. The operation is painful, but it is wholesome and necessary.

Concerning The Last Will And Testament

To the student of human nature few documents absorb the interest as do the last wills and testaments of the departed; in them may be found every motive from saintly benevolence to malignant revenge. The hard-fisted, pinch-penny miser often as not in his will exhibits a charitable feeling for his fellow man of which he gave no evidence while in the land of the living; family quarrels are carried into the hereafter and the dead hand in the churchyard may rest heavily upon the fortunes of those left behind. The will is the last word in human relationships, be that word of spite or hatred, of tenderness or loving kindness.

Wills have been made since the memory of man runneth not to the contrary; men have been devising and bequeathing since before the dawn of history. "Wills are of such ancient origin that their earliest beginning cannot be accurately determined," says Virgil M. Harris, trust officer of the National Bank of Commerce of St. Louis, who has compiled an interesting collection in a booklet entitled "Wills and Will Makers." "They can be traced back through the Roman law to that of the Grecian, Egyptian and Chaldean. Blackstone says that it was a custom of very great antiquity and that before the degree of civilisation was attained, which led to wills being left in writing, they were made orally."

JOB LEFT A WILL

There is the apocryphal will of Adam; the Mohammedan claims that the forefather of mankind left a will, that seventy legions of angels brought him sheets of paper and quill pens, nicely nibbed, all the way from Paradise, and that the Archangel Gabriel set his seal as a witness. There is much better authority for the last will and testament of Noah. Philastrius, the bishop of Brescia, in the fourth century, declared all persons heretics who denied the division made by the navigator of the Ark. In the Vatican is a very curious document published by Cardinal Mai in 1839, which purports to be the will of Job. In it are many interesting details which are not to be found in the Bible. One statement is to the effect that Job's wife sacrificed the hair of her head to procure bread for her husband.

The Caesars, Julius and Augustus, uncle and nephew, deposited their wills in the sacred temple of Vesta under the care of the most ancient of priestesses. Shakespeare made this provision in his will: "I give unto my wife my second best bed, with the furniture." The Bard of Avon was particular about those personal effects, which otherwise would have gone to the "heirs of his blood." Demosthenes says that at the end of a will in his day it was customary to imprecate the most formidable curses on those who should attempt to violate the wishes of the testator. Contested wills in the courts today are evidence of the extent to which the modern world has fallen away from the ancient practice. Otherwise, a certain Englishman in the eighteenth century would not have had the temerity to sue the estate of a dead man for a libel which was are not to be found in the Bible. One published in the man's will.

HE KNEW THE IRISH

In 1781, an Englishman, John Hylett Stow, left a will wherein he directed his executors to expend 5 guineas in the purchase of a picture of a viper biting the benevolent hand of the person who saved it from perishing in the snow, and he directed that it be presented to a certain individual, a king's consul, "whereby he may have frequent opportunity to contemplate it, and, by comparison between that and his own virtue, be able to form a certain judgment which is best and most profitable, a grateful remembrance of past friendship and almost parental regard, or ingratitude and insolence. This I direct to be presented to him in lieu of a legacy of £3,000 I had by a former will, now revoked and burned, left him."

Another Englishman of the same century was possessed of a similar malevolence, but in this instance directed at a people as a whole, instead of at a single individual. This Englishman had a most violent prejudice against the Irish. Late in life he inherited considerable property in the county of Tipperary, but under the express condition that he should reside on the land. His feelings towards the natives grew only more bitter by association. At his death his executors found this declaration in his will.

"I give and bequeath the annual sum of 10 pounds to be paid in perpetuity out of my estate for the following purposes: It is my will and pleasure that this sum shall be spent in the purchase of a certain quantity of liquor vulgarly called whisky, and it shall be publicly given out that a certain number of persons, Irish only, not to exceed twenty, who may choose to assemble in the cemetery in which I shall be interred, on the anniversary of my death, shall have the same distributed to them. Furthermore, it is my desire that each shall receive it by half-a-pint at a time till the whole is consumed each being likewise provided with a stout oaken stick and a knife, and that they shall drink it all on the spot. Knowing what I know of the Irish character, my conviction is, that with these materials given, they will not fail to destroy each other, and when in the course of time the race comes to be exterminated, this neighborhood at least may perhaps, be colonised by civilised and respectable Englishmen."

"MARK OF A DEPRAVED MIND"

A rector of a Yorkshire parish who died in 1804, left considerable property to his daughter on the condition that she should dress with greater propriety than theretofore. "Seeing that my daughter, Anna, has not availed herself of my advice touching the objectionable practice of going about with her arms bare up to the elbows, my will is that should she continue after my death in this violation of the modesty of her sex, all property, personal and real, devised for her maintenance, shall pass to the oldest sons of my sister Caroline. Should anyone take exception to this, my wish, as being too severe, I answer that license in dress in a woman is a mark of a depraved mind." One wonders what the good dominie would have said could he have lived down to this present day in which the length of a woman's sleeves receives scant consideration and other features of milady's habit are so much in the foreground.

A resident of Hertfordshire, England, inserted in his will a wish that, "as he was about to take a thirty years' nap," his coffin might be suspended from a beam in his barn, but by no means nailed down. However, he permitted it to be locked, provided a hole were made in the side through which a key might be passed when he awoke. His death occurred in 1720, but in 1750 when the occupant of the coffin still showed no signs of waking, his nephew, who inherited the property, after allowing him one year's grace, caused a grave to be dug and the coffin put into it.

AS WRIT BY OBED GARDNER

Among wills of many and diverse kinds the following is unique; it is the will of a seafaring man, one Obed Gardner, who lived on the Island of Nantucket, and is authentic. It was dated May 30, 1841.

"I, Obed Gardner, master mariner, now living at Sconset, write down this will.

"Item. I have cruised with my wife, Huldy Jane, since 1811. We signed articles in town, before the preacher on Independence day, and I want her and my oldest son, Jotham, to be captain and mate in bringin' to port whatever I leave and to see that every one of the crew gets the lay as writ down on this paper. I put mother in command. I know she'd be captain anyway, for six months after we started on our life cruise I found that I was mate and she was master. I don't mean that she ever mutinied, but I no that whenever we didn't agree she always manoovred to windward. May be it is all right for she could sail closer to the wind than I could."

After a bequest of an interest in the ship Nancy Roteh, then somewhere on the seas, to his son Jotham, the captain's will goes on:

"Item. I want mother to have the house on Union Street until she goes aloft. Then I want it to go to the children in equal lays, and if any child dies I want the lay of the parent to go to the parents' young ones, but I don't want my daughter Belindy to have anything as long as her husband is livin. He is a lubber, but she has been cruisin with him for years. I haven't got anything partickler agin him, but he doesn't no how to navigate the sea of life. I do believe if he wanted to stop a leak board ship it would be just like him to go into the hold with a auger and bore a hole threw the plankin to let the bilge water out into the sea.

THEN LOOK OUT FOR SQUALLS

"But Belindy likes him. That's just like a woman. If I should give her the lay out-and-out to her, I am afraid her husband would manoover to get it. So I want mother and Jotham to put it out at interest, and give what comes out of it to her until her husband ships for a corpse below decks in the graveyard. Then she can take the lay and do what she wants to with it."

The will went on to cut his son "Ezry" out without a shilling because he had been disobedient and refractory and had run away to sea and to China. Then follows another interesting item:

"Item. I want mother and Jotham to settle up things as soon as they can break bulk and make a fair divide between the children. But, don't forget what I have writ down about mother and Belindy. I don't think Belindy's husband will make any fuss about the way I have taken care of her unless she runs head on to the shoals of a lawyer's office. Then look out for squalls. I hope she'd stand off if she sees a lawyer comin thort her bows."

The "Nancy Hotch" (for the sake of those interested in what happened after the captain went aloft) returned and was sold for a good price. Belindy's husband was drowned. Ezra returned from China, prosperous and anxious to make amends for past shortcomings. He suggested that the whole estate be given to the widow. After her death, at the age of 92, it was divided among the children, except that Ezra gave his "lay" to Belindy's oldest boy, who had been named for him.

A Young Man's Pope

Interview With Pontiff—His Interest In American Games —Gives Site Near Vatican For Athletic Field For Knights Of Columbus

BY EDWARD L. HEARN
K. of C. European Commissioner

Pius XI. will go down in history as the Young Man's Pope—for he has made it known that one of his prime concerns is the welfare of the youth of his native land. As European Commissioner of the Knights of Columbus it was my privilege recently to have the longest private audience accorded so far by His Holiness to a layman, when I laid before him the plans of the Knights of Columbus for the establishment and conduct of the $1,000,000 American welfare work which they have undertaken in the land of Columbus as a tribute to the memory of Columbus, their patron, and to the memory of the late Pope Benedict XV., who personally invited the Knights to take up this particular undertaking.

His Holiness received me gladly. He came forward to meet me after directing that I be shown to his private study. He is a tall, athletically built man, and he speaks English with very little accent, for an Italian. He reads it freely, too, and is often found perusing London and American newspapers.

"I am glad to see you," he said, shaking my hand, and modestly averting the obeisance I was rendering. "As the representative of the Knights of Columbus you are welcome to the Holy See. I salute you, too, as a Knight Commander of the Order of St. Gregory the Great."

The Pope seated myself and my secretary comfortably. One of the functionaries of the Vatican appeared and the Holy Father made known to him, in Italian, that he was not to be disturbed until I had rendered fully the report of the K. of C. plans for the establishment of their work in Italy.

I drew out of my pocket papers on which the report had been carefully prepared. The Pope smiled at their bulk and, with a gesture, indicated that I proceed.

K. OF C. AND EUROPE

I stated, as a preliminary, that the Knights of Columbus, as an American organisation, restricting its fraternal activities to the continent of North America, was loath to extend its organisation elsewhere, and that it was the sense of the Supreme Board of Directors that the work in Italy, done at the behest of the Holy See, as His Eminence Cardinal Dougherty has stated, did not involve extention of the organisation proper to Europe.

"The work of the order," I said, speaking with the knowledge of one who had the privilege to be Supreme Knight for ten years, "is necessarily limited in its fraternal aspects. There is much to be accomplished in and for America, and by America I include Canada, Newfoundland, Mexico and the American insular possessions."

His Holiness graciously smiled.

Then I narrated facts with which he was probably familiar—the pilgrimage made to the Vatican by 250 Knights of Columbus, from every State of the Union, in August, 1920, when Pope Benedict personally [illegible] honor for pilgrims, celebrating mass for them in the Vatican gardens and personally conferring [illegible]ment of the Eucharist upon them. I told him how his predecessor, in perhaps the longest address ever delivered from the pontifical throne in recent generations, had described to the Knights the need for K. of C. activity in Rome to preserve the faith of the Italian youth in the land that had made the discovery of America possible by producing the great Columbus.

The Supreme Pontiff heard me patiently, occasionally applauding sentiments expressed in the report with the English equivalent of the Italian "Bravo" ("Good.")

IMPORTANCE OF ATHLETICS

When I reached the part of the report in which was stressed the importance of athletics as a medium of benefit for the Italian youth his face beamed, and he became enthusiastic.

"That is the thing for the boys," he declared. "They must have these games, and the American games are especially fitted for the climate of Italy."

Here it should be explained that the Knights of Columbus, in proceeding to Italy at the request of the Vatican, are in no way invited in religious controversy. In the first place the work of the Knights of Columbus in Italy is being financed entirely by funds of the organisation, altogether distinct from the war funds which maintain the immense correspondence, night school and college course systems and hospitalisation service maintained by the Knights of Columbus for the benefit of the war veterans. The Italians are inexperienced in contact sports. Italian-Americans excel in these sports; but in Italy, excepting for exhibitions of boxing and wrestling, and the practice of one or two minor games, sport, as we know it in America, is unknown.

Pope Pius XI, is known, among his human qualifications, for a fondness for strenuous exercise. That explains his enthusiasm for the part of the Knights of Columbus program calling for the introduction of baseball. He knew something of the game, as there is an English game, similar to baseball, known as "rounders," with which Europeans are acquainted. But I had not gone far in my laudation of its merits as a health-builder and mental stimulant to youth when His Holiness arose suddenly from his chair and beckoned me to the large window of his study. He pointed out beyond the screen over the dome of St. Peter's to a large plot of sandy turf.

"The Knights of Columbus shall have that site for their field," he declared, "so that I can see for myself from my study window what progress they are making here in the heart of Rome."

POSSIBILITIES OF SITE

It was the first time in history that such an offer had been made by any Pope, I was amazed, and so, too, I think, was the papal attendant present in the room. His Holiness had evidently determined on this gift of papal land long before I saw him, for he reached into his drawer and drew out a large topographical map.

"This map will be sent to you," he said; "it will show you clearly where this site is, and what its possibilities are for adaptability to the wonderful work the Knights of Columbus undertake."

I then explained to His Holiness that the K. of C. had already taken up Roman headquarters at 25 Via Marate, the former building of a branch of the Bank of Sconto, located in the middle of the thriving business life of the Eternal City, and readily accessible to tourists. I informed His Holiness that in this headquarters the K. of C. had made arrangements to assist the comfort of the scores of Americans—Bishops, priests and eminent lavmen and women—who would visit Rome for the great Eucharistic Congress during the last week of May.

"That is an achievement," said the Pope. "I am delighted."

He then dwelt upon the appropriateness of the Knights of Columbus returning to Italy, after their war welfare work in that country for American service men.

"It is very fitting that you undertake this task," he said, "for it is no less important than any other kind of relief work. You will bring closer the relations between your country and Italy. I have a profound admiration for the idealism of America, which is none the less practical and can see the advantage to domestic moral of the extension to other countries of advantages which America enjoys. Italy is still struggling from the economic disadvantages entailed by the war; and in coming to us with your strength you are bestowing upon us an unqualified blessing."

MISSIONARY INTERVENTION

Pope Pius did not castigate foreign missionary intervention in Rome. He has his own opinion of it, as every cultured Italian has. The Pope makes enemies of no men. It is his concern to care for the faith of the people of Italy, and whatever obstacles are placed in his path he must meet with the means he desires to use. He has selected the Knights of Columbus to do a work for him that cannot be accomplished by any Italian organisation.

"Please," he asked me, before I quit the Papal presence, "convey to the Supreme Knight of the Knights of Columbus, and to the Supreme Officers and the members of the Supreme Board of Directors and to every individual Knight and their families, my fervent blessing. Their achievements for America have aroused my admiration. I have for some years watched their progress as an organisation devoted to practical, patriotic works, and trust their example in Italy will be as effective as it is meritorious."

I left His Holiness, stating that every week there would be delivered to the Vatican authorities a complete report of the activities of the Knights of Columbus during that week. It is our principal problem to first establish American welfare work on an established K. of C., "everything free and everybody welcome" basis in Rome and then to ramify to the provinces.

A well-known American news reporter met me as I left the audience chamber after quitting the Pope's apartment.

"You have been in there exactly twenty-five minutes," he said, to my surprise. "It is the longest audience accorded a layman by any Pope, and my memory goes back to Pius IX. But I suppose you Knights of Columbus deserve that."

"The Pope must think so, too," I replied, "otherwise the audience would have ended before this."

"Syphons, Syphons, Syphons"

You will find Aerated Waters bottled in Syphons very economical. Frequently you want just one glass, but have to open a bottle for it. The rest is liable to become stale, or to lose its effervescence. With Syphons it is different. You just press the lever and draw off what you require. The remainder in the hermetically closed bottle remains fresh and effervescent to the last drop. No looking for openers. We have sufficient stock of Syphons to comply with orders to any extent.

Sodawater, "Crystall is" the Champion Table Water, Tonic Water, Lithia, Seltzer, Brom-Seltzer (invaluable in headache). Apollinaris, prepared fresh daily from the salts, etc., may all be had in Syphons.

Chinese Consul At Vladivostok Complains Of Tax

(Delta News Agency)

Harbin, June 29.—The Chinese Consul at Vladivostok has protested against the continued special tax on Chinese residents in Vladivostok supposed to be for organising special military detachments for protection against pirates.

The Chinese Consul states that Chinese residents have no need of such protection and not one Chinese has asked Merkulov's government for protection. He therefore demands that an end be put to this illegal tax.
